EXHIBITOR PROSPECTUS & SUPPORT OPPORTUNITIES

WELCOME

We invite your participation in the upcoming 39th Annual Meeting of the American Association of Endocrine Surgeons (AAES), to be held May 6-8, 2018 at the Washington Duke Inn and Golf Club, Durham, North Carolina. Official meeting information and a Prospectus are included for your reference.

AAES is the leading endocrine surgery association in North America. Last year, there were nearly 500 attendees at the annual meeting, including a large number of leading national and international endocrine surgeons – specialists who perform head and neck (thyroid and parathyroid) and abdominal (pancreas and adrenal) endocrine operations. These fields of practice overlap with otolaryngology, urology, gastrointestinal, and surgical oncology and specialists in these fields also attend the AAES. Most endocrine surgeons are experts in open and laparoscopic/robotic surgery for, benign disorders, cancer, and head-and-neck diseases, as well as adjunctive technologies (ultrasound, laryngoscopy) and broader endocrinology.

Exhibit hall presence, enhanced visibility, and opportunities for interaction with surgeon attendees are available in addition to medical education grants. Your organization's support of the program will be acknowledged at the meeting in on-site signage, the Annual Meeting Program, the AAES website, and verbally at the podium and on-screen.

The 39th AAES Annual Meeting is planned and implemented in accordance with the Essential Areas and Policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education. This year's Annual Meeting will be a great opportunity to connect with professionals and leaders across the globe in the field of endocrine surgery while receiving high level education on the latest advancements in science and research in the field.

We look forward to seeing you in Durham! Reserve your space now as we expect to sell out quickly. If you should have any questions or require additional information, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Sincerely,

Sanziana Roman, MD
